

P. L. L., (1860,) art 20, sec. 203.

227. They may levy taxes upon all the taxable property within the town for all corporate purposes, but the sum so levied shall in no case exceed the sum of twenty-five cents in every hundred dollars; and all taxes, fines, forfeitures and penalties herein imposed, or imposed or levied by them, may be collected by the bailiff of said town, in the same manner as county taxes by the county collectors.

Ibid. sec. 204

228. They shall establish some suitable place for their meetings, and give notice thereof, and shall have stated sessions for the transaction of business, once or oftener, in each month.

Ibid. sec 205.

229. They may make all such ordinances, by-laws and regulations, for the good government, improvement and benefit of said town, not contrary to law, as they shall deem proper, and to restrain disorders and disturbances, prevent and abate all nuisances, and to carry into effect the powers granted to them; and may establish and enforce such penalties, fines and forfeitures for offences, as they may deem proper, not exceeding fifty dollars in any one case.

1878, ch. 129.

230. They are also empowered to pass all such by-laws and ordinances as may seem to them necessary for the proper and thorough drainage of the town; for the removal of all nuisances and obstructions in the streets; for repairing, paving and otherwise improving the streets and alleys of the town; and when, in their opinion, it may be necessary to open new streets or widen the existing ones, the question shall be then submitted to the taxable citizens of said town, and if approved by a majority vote of said citizens, the commissioners are authorized to assess the damages and benefits, and execute the work.

Ibid.

231. If any person shall violate any of the ordinances of the town of Trappe, under the charter of said town, by loud or boisterous talking, cursing, swearing or using profane or vulgar language, or otherwise, in any manner whatever, disturb the
